Fixed mindsets, the stigma associated to making mistakes, the belief that math equals computation, that answer-getting is the goal, the need to address diversity and inclusivity issues, and much more contribute to an increasingly challenging environment for math instructors. There simply is more to consider and more to do. In this talk, “Big Tent IBL” will be used as a practical framework that supports addressing these issues.