

Robert McKeever, a student in Gonzaga University's Master of Arts in Communication and Leadership Studies program, wrote his thesis about the Internet social networking site called Facebook. His thesis has been accepted for presentation August 27, 2008, when the largest annual gathering of political scientists in the world convenes at Harvard University.