Comprehensive Leadership Program develops leaders for the common good

We live in a complex world. The actions of our leaders have far-reaching social, economic, and environmental impact. Gonzaga’s Comprehensive Leadership Program (CLP) develops future leaders—women and men who are capable of developing a vision for a better world, and have the means to guide others toward fulfillment of that vision. Through academic coursework, reflective self-study, and co-curricular activities, this interdisciplinary, undergraduate leadership program prepares a diverse group of students to be great leaders on campus, in their community, and in their profession.

Jesuit education and Gonzaga University foster the development of men and women who will be leaders for the common good, with the belief that leadership can be learned. CLP embraces this mission through deeper exploration of three dimensions of leadership: self-awareness, relationship with others, and community action for the common good.

Beginning in spring of their freshman year, CLP students will take core classes that introduce leadership theory, analyze and develop personal leadership styles, and examine leadership in the context of other cultures and value systems. Students build community with their peers and supplement academic core courses through participation in retreats, workshops, speaker series, and electives. A junior-year internship and a senior Legacy Project put leadership knowledge and skills into practice as students experience first hand the role of leadership in their lives.

Initiated in 2002, the Comprehensive Leadership Program is a dynamic, growing program now serving nearly 150 undergraduate students. Gonzaga University has long been known for its excellent leadership programs at the graduate level, offering an MA in Organizational Leadership, an MA in Communication and Leadership Studies, and a PhD in Leadership Studies. The CLP program was designed to extend this tradition to students at the undergraduate level, preparing future leaders within the framework of mission-centered values: service, justice, faith and ethics. About 40 freshmen are enrolled each year into this four-year program.

Co-curricular Activities – Experience Leadership in Action

In addition to CLP’s academic component, students are required to participate in a number of co-curricular activities designed to complement the classroom leadership experience. These include:

- Leadership Fish Bowl: A conversation with regional leaders who share their expertise and insights.
- Annual Leadership Seminar/Workshop (fall): A day-long workshop highlighting various aspects of leadership development, such as leadership and diversity, improvisation and leadership, and team building skills.
- Annual Two-Day Leadership Retreat (spring): An overnight retreat to build community and introduce additional leadership concepts such as emotional intelligence, Native American leadership perspectives, and leading through conflict.
- CLP Inchelium Leadership and Basketball Clinic (fall): Students in grades 3-8 from the Colville Indian Reservation experience basketball camp hosted by Gonzaga players while CLP students stage a leadership development workshop for high school student leaders.
- CLP Spring Break Service Trip: Using Robert Greenleaf’s servant-leadership principles, this optional spring break trip brings 12-15 CLP students to an area of the country in need of assistance.
- CLP Service Learning and Leadership Internship Program: Students are required to complete 100 hours of service-learning through co-curricular activities, and the option to pursue an internship aligned with the student’s major, and gain real life experience.
- Senior Legacy Project: A capstone project in which students plan, organize and carry out a campus or community leadership project that provides authentic service and lasting impact to its members.

Mission

The Comprehensive Leadership Program fosters the development of men and women who lead for the common good. The program offers a unique scholarly environment that provides transformational and reflective student experiences focused on three dimensions: self-awareness, relationship with others, and community action for the common good.

Vision

CLP students positively change the world. The program intends to produce graduates with a deep and holistic understanding of leadership, the meaning of moral character, and an ethic of care and service.
Our CLP students
• earn degrees in 28 fields of study.
• participate in more than 130 campus clubs and organizations, and serve as leaders in half of these clubs.
• average a 3.45 GPA and a 1,250+ SAT score.

Benefits and recognition
• Positions students for leadership roles in their community and their chosen career
• Prepares students for further professional and graduate studies
• Completion and receipt of Gonzaga University Certificate of Leadership Program
• Receipt of transcript indicating curricular and co-curricular work completed under the CLP
• Notation on official University academic transcript
• Special recognition in the Commencement program at Graduation and end-of-year CLP banquet
