

SYLLABUS

This course will be a natural progression of ITA 101 and will give the students a further knowledge of the Italian grammar and language spoken. It will also complete basic grammar as far as first year of Italian is concerned.

Aggettivi, comparazione, pronomi semplici e doppi, congiunzioni, single and compound tenses of the indicative mood of the verb and other will be normal topics in this class.

Readings will complete theories and will help in learning vocabulary, in composition and conversation.

Sequences of tenses of the Indicativo and Condizionale moods (indicative imperfetto and trapassato prossimo, futuro and futuro anteriore, condizionale passato) will complete the study of verbs during this first year.

Readings, questions and answers, short compositions, study of vocabulary, short oral reports and role plays will be part of this second semester.

Textbooks will be the same used during the first semester and all exams will be written. Active participation to the classes will be highly appreciated

Students will certainly realize that missing a class of language will affect their learning negatively, therefore it is suggested that students be in class and follow their teacher's explanations and class activities constantly and attentively.

In case of absence students will be responsible for work missed

Dates of quizzes and exams are hereunder listed. This will enable the students to organize their travelling as well as their academic life.
