1. PREREQUISITES
According to the Gonzaga in Spokane requirements (check catalogue).

2. COURSE DESCRIPTION
This course introduces students to the historical problems associated with the Holocaust or Shoah - the systematic mass murder of European and Soviet Jews perpetrated by the Nazi regime between 1933 and 1945. The main issues discussed in the course include the historical origins of antisemitism in Europe; the development of National Socialist ideology in Germany; the Nazi and Fascist racial policies in the 1930s; the “Final Solution” - the mass extermination of Jews during World War II; the assistance offered by gentiles to mitigate the Holocaust, and participation of local non-Jews in the Nazi occupied countries in the campaign for the annihilation of their Jewish “neighbors”. Special attention in the course is dedicated to the Nazi treatment of other groups destined to annihilation: Roma, black, people deemed handicapped, homosexuals, political opponents, and so called “asocials”. Furthermore, the course discusses the cultural interpretations of the Shoah – from the oblivion of the postwar years until the contemporary “duty to remember” –, the Holocaust place in memoirs and historical writings, and the ongoing debates and controversies in the study of this event.

The study of the Holocaust is difficult and extraordinarily challenging due to both the unprecedented nature of the event and the additional emotional and moral demands it makes on us. The course does not provide simplified answers and does not draw generalized conclusions, but examines variety of cases (countries and individuals) and discusses the complexity of the issue from historical, political, sociological, philosophical, and ethical perspectives.
3. COURSE METHOD
This course adopts an interdisciplinary approach. It is not a narrative of events and facts but rather their academic evaluation and interpretation. The framework of the classes is chronological – problematic, examining some of the key issues and events as they unfolded. The course will be taught through a combination of lectures and class discussions. Students will be provided with a variety of source materials. Use of audio-visual sources (PowerPoint presentations, photos and videos) will be made by the instructor to illustrate various issues discussed during this course.

Active participation is required. This means that students contribute to class discussions by relating their experiences, asking questions, and making comments appropriate to the topics being discussed. In order for the discussions to be meaningful, students must come to class fully prepared to discuss the assigned reading and homework. Since participation plays a consistent role in the final grade (see Sections 9 & 10), it is essential that students have not only read the assignment, but have approached them critically and have drawn their own conclusions from the reading. They will present those conclusions during class discussions.

4. COURSE OBJECTIVES
By the successful completion of the course, students will be able to:
• Understand the historical and political framework in which the Holocaust took place.
• Reconstruct the most important phases and events related to the Nazi-fascist persecution of the European Jews.
• Develop a well-informed, nuanced and autonomous reflection on the meaning and moral legacy of the Shoah for the contemporary culture.
• Being informed on the contemporary policies concerning the remembrance and didactics of the Holocaust.
• Consider contemporary forms of social discrimination.

5. LEARNING OBJECTIVES AND OUTCOMES
The learning objectives are to: develop students’ critical thinking and analytical skills (through readings, periodicals, internet sources, photos and videos), research, writing and presentation skills (through home assignments, written paper, exam essays and oral presentations).

6. DECORUM
• Cell-phones off.
• No food and beverages admitted, except for bottled water.
• No technical devices are accepted (laptops, Ipads, etc).
• Disrupting behavior (doing something else during the course, engaging in private conversations, playing with electronic devices) is not accepted and if repeated it will negatively affect the attendance and participation part of the final grade or may result in removal from the course.

7. ATTENDANCE POLICY
Attendance is taken at the beginning of class from the first day of the semester. The student entering class after attendance is taken has to contact the professor at the end and announce his/her presence. However, this does not mean that coming late is accepted. Two late arrivals may be excused, three turn automatically into an absence and will affect the attendance and participation part of the final grade.
Students can miss one week’s work, irrespective of the course formula (three sessions, two sessions, one session). It is their responsibility to make up for the missed work. If they miss a quiz or a report they are not allowed to have it at another time, unless the absence is for certified medical reasons and the professor and Dean agree.
More than one week’s work missed is going to be penalized as follows:
1. One extra absence: by lowering the attendance and participation grade.
2. Two extra absences: by lowering the final grade by a whole letter grade.
3. Three extra absences: by grading the whole course F.

8. COURSE REQUIREMENTS
A background of modern and contemporary European history would be “preferable” for a better comprehension of the subject.
Lectures are held in English.

• A questionnaire is distributed on the first day of class to inform the instructor about the general background and characteristics of the students. Students are not required to answer all questions.

• On your lecture calendar you will find information on each class’s readings assignment: a good pre-reading activity of the material is required to better follow in-class explanations, and to actively participate in class discussions. Please note that a substantial amount of readings is required for this course.

• Individual study of the notes, the readings, the handouts etc. at home is likewise required after every lecture, at least on a weekly basis.

• Please note that home assignments and adequate participation in class discussion count for 25% of the final course grade (see Sections 9 & 10).
• Students will be asked to research, read and study quite often at the School Library. Please make sure you are familiar with it (know how it works, opening and closing times, facilities, etc.) from the very start of the course.

• For the material you will need to type, please check the school computer facilities.

• A responsible and active class participation is expected at all times and activities.

• Please also consider important notes on attendance, participation and assignments (as described in pertinent paragraphs).

9. EXAMS – HOME ASSIGNMENTS – PAPER
During this course students are expected not only to attend classes on a regular basis, but also to actively participate through discussions of readings, home assignments, and presentations.
Apart from Mid Term Exam and Final Exam, students are expected to write one analytical research paper on any of the issues discussed in class, and to give one class presentation of their paper.

1. Attendance:
• It counts for 10% of the final course grade.

2. Home Assignments & Participation in Class Discussion:
• Home assignments and adequate participation in class discussion count for 25% of the final course grade.
• There will be 5 home assignments in which the students will be asked to answer specific questions about the text books or other material (articles, video, film, places in Florence, etc.) indicated by the instructor.
• Assignments will be read out in class and discussed collectively.
• Points will be taken off for missing or incomplete answers.
• Students are allowed 1 excuse note only, and they shall hand in their work within 1 week, otherwise they will receive an F for it.

• Schedule:
  Home assignment 1: due on Tuesday, October 6
  Home assignment 2: due on Tuesday, October 13
  Home assignment 3: due on Tuesday, October 20
  Home assignment 4: due on Tuesday, November 10
  Home assignment 5: due on Tuesday, December 1st
3. Research Paper and Presentation:

- It counts for 15% of the final course grade.

- Paper should be comprised between min 1200 and max 1500 words and should include a Reference List of its sources.

- Critical evaluation of the information is required for this paper, plagiarism is not acceptable.

- Fair amount of sources (at least...):
  - 1 “big” book + 2 articles, papers or chapters in book;
  - 1 or 2 Witness Memoir + 2 articles, papers or chapters in book as secondary literature;
  - 4 articles, papers or chapters in book;
  - 1 film + 3 articles, papers or chapters in book as secondary literature;
  - A report on a Shoah Museum + 3 articles, papers or chapters in book as secondary literature;
  - Information from specialized web site on the Holocaust are welcome as sources (have a look at the INTERNET RESOURCES in Section 13);
  - Please note: Wikipedia is a wonderful web site for scientific popularization, but it is not a source for a research paper.

- Students are encouraged to come out with their own topics, but all topics should be discussed with and approved by the instructor in advance.

- DEADLINE for the submission of your topic proposal is Tuesday, 27 October. The proposal should include the subject of your research paper and the list of your bibliographical sources.

- GIF Library has a section on Holocaust Studies, but of course it is not a specialized library on this issue. Before selecting a topic for your research paper, check in the Library if sources on this topic are available, or if you can gather sources from Spokane Library.

- The DEADLINE for the research paper submission is Tuesday, 17 November.

- You will be asked to give a brief presentation (approx. 10 minutes) of your paper to the class, summarizing your conclusions and/or interesting findings, in order to promote a discussion on your topics. Power point presentations are also welcome. Presentations may be organized in the speaker-discussant pattern (the instructor will define this aspect at a later stage of the course, according to the number of students and the selected topics).
• Grade for the paper will be based on the paper itself (80 %) and its in-class presentation (20 %).

• PAPER PRESENTATION will take place on Tuesday, December 1st.

4. Mid Term Exam:

• It counts for 25% of the final course grade.
• It will take place in class on Tuesday, November 3.
• Exam Format: short-answers questionnaire

5. Final Exam:

• It counts for 25% of the final course grade.
• It will take place in class on Tuesday, December 15.
• Exam format: short-answers questionnaire and/or essay questions.

Remember that the dates of the exams, of the paper presentations and of the various deadlines cannot be changed for any reason, so please organize your personal activities accordingly.

10. EVALUATION

Final Grade Breakdown:

10% Attendance
25% Home assignments & Participation in class discussion
15% Research Paper and Presentation
25% Mid Term Exam
25% Final Exam

Please note: see Section 9 for a detailed explanation of the above Final Grade Breakdown.

Gonzaga University grading system. Grades Conversion:

A  94-100
A -  90-93
B+  87-89
B  84-86
B-  80-83
C+  77-79
11. ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

The evaluation is done according to the following criteria:

- clear and well formulated argument (rhetorical strategy)
- ability to approach an issue from various points of view and evaluate them critically
- good use of bibliography. Sources need to be cited and listed at the end in the Bibliography. Any citation style (MLA or Chicago) are acceptable. Class notes can build the frame of your argumentation, but will not be cited as primary sources.
- clarity of expression including quality of style (grammar, spelling).

Significance for the final grade of attendance and participation

A: the student has no absence, is punctual and respectful with the professors and the classmates, is always prepared for class (has done the reading and writing assignments); He/she vividly participates in class discussions and contributes with interpretations which prove fine critical sense and creativity, using a grammatically correct, semantically rich and conceptually clear language.

B: the student is respectful and punctual, is prepared for class, participates in discussions, has a good level of understanding the issues under focus and an appropriate use of language.

C: has a adequate but schematic or superficial understanding of the texts and issues under focus, is not always prepared for class, uses a simple language.

Grades significance for written assignments

A: the work is an excellent synthesis of elaborated course in-puts, extensive reading and original ideas; it is well articulated in a balanced argumentation and formulated in a clear, fluent style.

B: the work shows a good elaboration of the course inputs, a well-conducted discourse and a good use of bibliography; it has a good level of style.

C: the work proves a basic understanding of the research issue, but does not use the bibliography properly/or does not express ideas in a persuasive clear style or lacks in discourse planning, therefore needing improvement.
D: The work is acceptable, but weak in terms of formulating and discussing the question under focus and organizing the discourse. It relies on non-academic sources and does not, in general, comply with the requirements, unless in minimal way.

F: The work is not acceptable in terms of the basic requirements or has not been submitted in time.

0: the work has not been submitted or 0 + Main Campus Report: the work has been plagiarized.

Academic Honesty

Academic honesty is essential to education and represents the bond of trust between the university, the instructor and the student. Academic dishonesty is any action by which a student seeks to claim credit for the intellectual effort of another person or uses unauthorized materials or fabricated information in any academic exercise. It includes unauthorized assistance in tests and examinations; intentionally impeding or damaging the academic work of others; submitting another person’s work as your own, or providing work for this purpose; submitting work of your own that has been substantially edited and revised by another person, or providing such an editing and revision service for others; submitting material from a source (books, articles, internet sites) without proper citation and bibliographic reference; paraphrasing material from a source without appropriate reference and citation; submitting substantially the same piece of work in more than one course without the explicit consent of all the instructors concerned; assisting other students in any of the above acts.

Students who are academically dishonest will receive “0” (zero) on the work in question or a failing grade for the course as a whole, depending on the importance of the work to the overall course grade and the judgment of the instructor.

Plagiarism

Academic dishonesty can manifest itself in plagiarism, defined as claiming intellectual property on somebody else’s work, in other words as cultural theft. Written assignments will be submitted to the plagiarism detection procedures of TurnItIn.com., activated on Blackboard.

Special Accommodation for students with learning disabilities

Documented learning disabilities or other medically certified problems that need special accommodation for any of the student’s expected academic performances will be treated with the due attention.
12. READINGS - TEXTBOOK

1) For the first part of the course (Weeks 1-8):

This book is available for purchase in Florence or can be purchased in advance before students arrive in Florence. Some copies of this book are available at GIF library.

Reserve as soon as possible your copy of the textbook. It might take a few days to have it. Each student must provide the text book for the successful completion of the course.

2) For the second part of the course and the Final Exam (Weeks 9-13) (the following texts will be distributed by the instructor, apart from those available at GIF Library):

- UN Resolution on Holocaust Remembrance.
- Stockholm International Forum, Declaration on the Holocaust.

Additional material

Chapters from other books, journal articles, chronology, and handouts will be distributed by the instructor during the semester.
