

CUERNAVACA

The city of Cuernavaca is located in a pleasant valley an hour and a half's drive south of the cultural richness and excitement of the capital, Mexico City.

Acapulco, Oaxaco, Puebla, and Taxco are also easy to reach from Cuernavaca.

The university town of Cuernavaca is a favorite vacation spot. Permanent residents number about 250,000, which nearly doubles during vacation seasons. Because of its lush and beautiful flora and an average temperature of 75 degrees, Cuernavaca is known as the "City of Eternal Spring."

The atmosphere tends to be that of a big town, rather than a big city. There is little crime. The people are very friendly. Life is relaxed and easy going. The Zócalo, the main square, is alive with sidewalk cafes, restaurants, bookstores, and shops. Street musicians (Mariachis) play. The outdoor markets will draw you back again and again!
