▶ ABOUT ERIP AND THE CONFERENCE

This conference is organized by ERIP, the Latin American Studies Association section on Ethnicity, Race, and Indigenous Peoples, in collaboration with Gonzaga University and the Latin American and Caribbean Ethnic Studies journal (LACES). ERIP is committed to the promotion of research, teaching, and the exchange of ideas about all topics related to ethnicity, race relations, Indigenous peoples, Afro-descendants and other ethnic or racial groups in Latin America, the Caribbean, and across the Americas. The ERIP 2019 Conference provides an opportunity for undergraduate students to present papers and posters on issues related to ERIP's mission and areas of interest in the study of Latin America, the Caribbean, and the Americas.

▶ BRIDGES AND WALLS ACROSS THE AMERICAS: DIALOGUES OF SURVIVANCE, ENDURANCE, AND RESISTANCE

ERIP 2019 intends to provide a forum for discussion, debate, and critical engagement with respect to best paths moving forward in the face of complex challenges facing our contemporary world.

We seek undergraduate individual papers and poster presentations from the arts, humanities and sciences. They might deal with issues related to the political, cultural, social, economic, artistic, scientific, etc. projects that have promoted recognition, autonomy, empowerment, and social justice or have caused divisions, inequities, violence, and manifestations of social injustice across nation-states and the hemisphere.

The conference is particularly interested in promoting dialogue surrounding members of the Afro- and indigenous communities in the Americas. Submissions might explore issues related to colonialism, decolonization, ethnicity, gender, race, state-formation, etc. as well as historical and contemporary contexts of resistance, resilience, and survivance.

We have provided a list of keywords that might be helpful in thinking about particular topics on our conference website.
