The TESOL Certificate course offers opportunities to examine issues, theories and practices of language learning and teaching as well as ESL/EFL methodologies in a variety of settings. In addition, students will obtain a 120-hour TESOL Certificate, which is a recognized credential for teaching English worldwide. The two courses complement each other, with content that will be woven together during the study abroad.

THEORY AND PRACTICE OF LANGUAGE TEACHING AND LANGUAGE PRACTICUM (TESOL CERTIFICATE)

MTSL 401/501 and MTSL 480/580 (4 credits)

The TESOL Certificate course gives you an understanding of basic second language acquisition theory and language teaching methodologies, and daily observation and teaching practice (approximately 2 hours daily) in elementary and secondary schools on the Chikuni Mission. You will learn to design, implement, and critique their own lesson plans and those of their peers. You will reflect on your observations and teaching, and collaborate in groups to achieve curricular goals. Students successfully completing the course receive 4 semester credits (either graduate or undergraduate), and a stand-alone TESOL Certificate that can help you find work teaching English as Second Language (ESL) either abroad or in the United States. It also strengthens Peace Corps/Fulbright applications and teaching positions where you will be working with non-native English speakers.
