dance productions.

Taking Center Stage

Miss Myrtle Woldson was clear about her wishes before she passed away in 2014: She wanted her hard-earned, carefully monitored real-estate fortune to benefit Gonzaga University, the arts, and generations of students to come. In April 2019, her dream came true with the opening of a performing arts center bearing her name.

Inside, The Woldson Collection pays tribute to Miss Woldson and inspires students and visitors to pursue self-empowerment. The museumlike series of spaces includes narrative panels and multimedia displays celebrating Miss Woldson's life, entrepreneurship and philanthropy.

The premiere performance at the Myrtle Woldson Performing Arts Center was a showcase of remarkable creativity and collaboration. What happened when the curtain rose for the first time was a product three years in the making, representing music, dance and acting, the beauty of the Spokane region and even the personality of Miss Woldson. In addition to the collective genius of Kathleen Jeffs (chair of theatre and dance), Suzanne Ostersmith (director of dance) and Timothy Westerhaus (chair of music), opening night demanded behind-the-scenes prowess by Laura Sims, the center's new director, and the staff members she hired just weeks before opening night.

"Everyone at Gonzaga has helped to make Miss Woldson's dream a reality."

— Monty Danner, friend and personal representative of Miss Woldson,

A Decade of Blessings

With this Report, I mark the conclusion of my 10th year as president of this extraordinary institution – and what a decade it has been! It is an opportunity to look back at many important milestones, and as I do so, I am overcome by just how immensely blessed Gonzaga is. Our good fortune is due to dedicated faculty and staff, the support of parents and alumni, incredible partnerships, generous gifts, talented leaders, faithful friends, and God’s continued guidance.

Here are just a few of many, many highlights:

- We’ve nurtured and strengthened our Catholic and Jesuit identity through development of deep relationships with the Spokane Diocese, creation of our Statement of Affirmation as a Jesuit Work, the building of a new home for the Jesuit community, completion of the Mission Priority Examen, and creating a combined Office of Mission & Ministry.
- We’ve seen academic excellence shine through the steady leadership of our College and Schools, and the establishment of two new schools – Nursing & Human Physiology (2013), as well as Leadership Studies (2018); the hiring of several highly qualified and dedicated leaders; developing strategic collaborations such as the Regional Health Partnership with the UW School of Medicine; and the implementation of a re-imagined core curriculum.
- Our campus has changed significantly with new buildings – Coughlin Residence Hall (2009), the Stevens Center for Tennis and Golf (2011), the Boone Avenue Retail Center, or “BARC” (2013), the John J. Hemmingson University Center (2015), Della Strada Jesuit Community (2017), Volkar Center for Athletic Achievement (2018), Woldson Performing Arts Center (2019). These new facilities allow us to re-imagine and in some cases repurpose other facilities to better support our faculty and students (e.g., Honors and the Humanities).
- As indicated by the names on those buildings, generous donors have made the largest gifts ever committed to this University in allowing us to successfully complete our largest capital campaign in history, raising $355 million. I’m so proud that this campaign also provided more than $110 million directly for scholarship support with 284 new student scholarships created.

Our 125th anniversary celebration continued at the 2013 Gala.

- By becoming a signatory to the President’s Climate Commitment, we pledged ourselves to reducing campus carbon output by 20% by 2020 – a goal we achieved this past year.
- To support the student development experience, we’ve expanded programming for First-Year students, achieved “veteran friendly campus” status, developed the Lincoln LGBTQ Center and worked diligently to address needs for a more diverse community.
- The reputation of Gonzaga as an excellent university has reached new heights. In the U.S. News college rankings, we were for the first time this year ranked #79 among national universities, while remaining one of the “best value” institutions as well.

As I approach my 30th year at Gonzaga, I simply could not be more honored and proud to lead it and to work side by side with Jesuit and lay colleagues, who provide continued inspiration for the important role we have in influencing the future. Gonzaga graduates are highly esteemed leaders, entrepreneurs, humanitarians, philanthropists and citizens. They are the reason we continue to question our strategies, push ourselves to meet challenges, and test our competitive edge in a changing higher education landscape.

Thank you for your commitment and the unwavering support you provide as together we journey forward into the decade ahead.

Sincerely,

Thayne M. McCulloh, D.Phil.

Examining our Jesuit, Catholic identity

Over the course of the 2018-19 academic year, Gonzaga continued to place intentional focus on its Jesuit, Catholic, humanistic identity and practice – but in an important new way. One significant achievement was completion of the Mission Priority Examen, a new process required of all Jesuit colleges and universities, to explore areas of strength and weakness in the life of their mission. Faculty, staff and students in every area had the opportunity to provide input, and then peer reviewers from other institutions evaluated our findings.

This Examen experience led to the identification of four institutional priorities, including a Work Values project, a comprehensive Jesuit Identity Initiative, a reaffirmed mission-based commitment to Diversity, Equity and Cultural Fluency, and Administrative Restructuring to support the vitality and viability of our institution, in service to its mission.

The final Mission Priority Examen report reaffirmed the importance of a shared commitment to mission among all areas of university life. It also identified gaps in current programs and infrastructure where we will put intentional focus:

- Clarity and accountability in decision-making, resource allocation and priorities
- Hiring for Mission
- Formation and education about the Society of Jesus, the Catholic tradition, Ignatian spirituality, Jesuit pedagogy and contemporary mission leadership
- Integration of mission identity in curricula across disciplines and all areas of university life
- Jesuit engagement.

While collecting and pondering the feedback received during that process, Gonzaga continued the work of deepening its mission offerings in many ways. We merged University Ministry and the Office of Mission into one, Office of Mission and Jesuit, to reflect our conviction that in a Jesuit context, “mission” and “ministry” are ultimately connected. That team offered a Catholic Identity Series and other opportunities for intellectual engagement and reflection throughout the academic year.

Amid these efforts, President McCulloh appointed a Commission on University Response to the Catholic Sexual Abuse Crisis to engage with the greater Gonzaga community. Goals include discovering how best to stand in solidarity with victim-survivors of abuse; to heal and repair the harm inflicted by abuse; and to address systemic institutional and social failures. Deena J. González, Ph.D.

The 2018-2019 academic year marked the beginning of Gonzaga's transition to a student-integrated provost structure, one that has become increasingly common among Association of Jesuit Colleges and Universities. This model seeks to unite the University's academic and student development objectives, fostering faculty and student success with an emphasis on collaborative program development.

Gonzaga welcomed Lizbeth "Beth" J. Martin as interim provost and senior vice president in 2018. Martin previously served as chief academic officer at Holy Names University and succeeded Interim Academic Vice President Elisabeth Mermann-Jozwiak. Martin's experience guided the University through this transitional time, and through the hiring of four new academic deans.

Martin passed the torch to Deena J. González, Ph.D., as permanent provost and senior vice president in June 2019. González emerged from a hiring process with more than 100 applications under consideration. The former associate provost for faculty affairs at Loyola Marymount University, González is an accredited administrator and professor whose experience speaks to Gonzaga's own mission to create an innovative and diverse, Jesuit education model.

Leadership & transitions

"I look forward to working with University leadership, faculty, students, staff and board members in advancing the goals of the strategic plan and supporting the institution's vision as an exemplar of Jesuit and Catholic higher education," González said.

Four deans joined González among the new faces on campus in June and July 2019. The recent hires are Yolanda Gallardo Carter, Ph.D., succeeding Dean Vincent Alfonso in the School of Education; Karlene Hoo, Ph.D., succeeding Interim Dean Joe Fedock in the School of Engineering and Applied Science; Rosemarie Hunter, Ph.D., succeeding Interim Dean Jolanta Weber in the School of Leadership Studies; and Vincent Salyers, Ed.D., succeeding Interim Dean Lin Murphy in the School of Nursing and Human Physiology. A fifth dean, Jacob Rooksby, J.D., in the School of Law, succeeded Dean Jane Korn in June 2018.

In July 2019, Mermann-Jozwiak left the University to become provost at Bucknell University, and Matt Bahr, Ph.D., who has served as associate dean, stepped in as interim dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. The 2018-2019 academic year also welcomed Vice President for Administration James Angelosante, previously at the University of Washington, to oversee operations such as human resources and plant services, among other departments that serve the whole campus.

Another leadership change came as Michelle Wheatley, D.Min., became the first lay person and woman to oversee Gonzaga's mission as acting vice president of Mission & Ministry.

Academics

"I come to work every day confident that the relationship students and I have will lay a foundation for a future that is brighter than the present we live in. And so I come here because I want to be a part of that transformation."

– Jeffrey Dodd (assistant professor of English)

As a Jesuit, Catholic, humanistic institution dedicated to fostering the whole person, excellence in education is nothing new to Gonzaga's long-standing mission. Gonzaga alumni leave the University as leaders, volunteers and critical thinkers, fueled by their classroom engagement to pursue their goals and challenge the issues they see in the world. The 2019 U.S. News & World Report rankings recognized Gonzaga's commitment to education with a No. 1 rank in best undergraduate teaching. Gonzaga's ranking among 140 regional, Western universities unfolded from a spring 2018 survey of votes from peer college administrators.

Faculty members ignite their passion for teaching in many ways. Here are two:

- Career & Professional Development's Faculty Career Kindler program, to integrate career development into their classrooms and student advisory efforts
- Interdisciplinary research and teaching collaborations.

UW-GU Regional Health Partnership

Now in its third year, the Regional Health Partnership is connecting GU students with mentors at the UW School of Medicine labs in Seattle and Spokane, expanding their opportunities for research and career advancement.

Here are a few highlights from this collaboration between the University of Washington School of Medicine and Gonzaga.

- UW researchers brought their expertise to Gonzaga and Spokane more broadly, with studies on aging and the impact of traumatic brain injury on mental health.
- Medical students work outside the classroom, reflecting GU's commitment to service and community engagement, by volunteering in the Med for Ed program, Walking School Bus, Union Gospel Mission clinic and others.
- GU undergrads partner with UW mentors – grad students, faculty researchers, or postdoctoral fellows – based on their career interests, to boost their biomedical research skills.
- UW reported that all of its medical students in the Lilac City made Spokane their top venue choice.
- This spring, Gonzaga broadcast studies majors produced videos highlighting UW medical students studying in Spokane.

These efforts, and more, point to the tremendous opportunity for further growth of the Regional Health Partnership.

Early in the 2019-20 academic year, the two institutions announced their intention to build a new teaching center adjacent to the Gonzaga campus, indicating a commitment to the health education possibilities in the Inland Northwest.

MOVING AHEAD: National Rankings

The 2020 U.S. News rankings consider Gonzaga a “national university” rather than a “regional” university due to reclassification by the Carnegie Institute. GU’s place on the lists will put us in the company of approximately 400 universities, including Ivy League schools, state research schools and other prestigious institutions.

College of Arts and Sciences

Interim Dean: Matt Bahr, Ph.D.
Succeeding Elisabeth Mermann-Jozwiak, Ph.D.

Facts & Stats

- 2,414 undergraduate, 36 graduate students
- 89 published articles or chapters and 11 books by faculty
- 178 papers presented by faculty at regional, national and international venues
- 32 professors led professional organizations related to their disciplines
- 31 faculty members received international, national and regional recognition or awards
- 148 students enrolled in an internship for academic credit
- 93% success rate (first-destination survey)
- 28 performing arts events and exhibits by faculty at regional, national and international venues

Faculty Accomplishments

Elisabeth Mermann-Jozwiak presented on interdisciplinary studies at the Greater Gonzaga Guild in November. An interdisciplinary teaching approach fosters critical thinking by encouraging students to recognize common themes, patterns and issues between the humanities and social, natural, formal and applied sciences. Mermann-Jozwiak elaborated on the success in helping students develop teamwork, problem-solving and other essential skills.

Associate Professor of History & Director of Native American Studies Laurie Arnold, Ph.D., contributed to the Time magazine article “The 25 Moments From American History That Matter Right Now.” Among seven Native scholars, she also contributed to the Metropolitan Museum of Art exhibit “Art of Native America: The Charles and Valerie Diker Collection.” Additionally, Arnold co-hosted “The Native American West: A Case Study of the Columbia Plateau,” a faculty development summer institute funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Professor of English Tod Marshall, Ph.D., and other state poets featured in “WA 129” received the Washington Voices Award from the Washington Center for the Book.

The team of Katey Roden, Ph.D. (English and Women’s & Gender Studies, visiting Digital Humanities scholar) and Pavel Shlossberg, Ph.D. (Communication & Leadership Studies), was a finalist for the Paul Fortier Prize with their paper, “Mapping and Making Community: Collaborative Digital Humanities Approaches, Experiential Learning, and Citizens’ Media.” Roden and Shlossberg presented at the Alliance of Digital Humanities Organizations Annual Meeting in Colombia.

Brian Cooney, Kristine Hoover and Katey Roden, all Ph.D., received the Civil Rights Award from the Kootenai County Task Force on Human Relations at its 21st annual Human Rights Banquet. The banquet, themed “Our Pursuit for Equality and Social Justice for the Human Race Continues,” included a keynote address from GU Chief Diversity Officer Raymond Reyes.

These Gonzaga art department faculty exhibited personal work at the Jundt Art Museum: Mary Farrell, M.F.A. (printmaking), Matt McCormick, M.F.A. (filmmaking, artist), Mat Rude, M.F.A. (ceramics) and Laura Truitt, M.F.A. (painting and drawing).

Kimberle Crenshaw was the keynote for the 2019 Public Humanities lecture, co-sponsored by the School of Law.

School of Business Administration

Dean: Kenneth Anderson, Ph.D.

Facts & Stats

1,400 undergraduate and 200 graduate students
25 faculty members published articles or chapters
24 faculty members presented at regional, national and international venues
209 students interned with 198 organizations
96% undergraduate employment success rate
97% graduate employment success rate
$550,000 in scholarships awarded to students
52 Zags volunteered 623 hours, helped file 816 tax returns and helped generate $1,212,644 in refunds for United Way's Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program.

2018-2019 U.S. News & World Report Rankings:

- Top 5% nationwide for first-time CPA pass rates (#20 in the United States among large accounting programs at 76%)
- #18 Nation's Best Graduate Accounting Program
- #23 Best Undergraduate Accounting Program
- #36 Best Undergraduate Finance Program
- #21 Best Part-time MBA Finance Program
- #44 Best Part-time MBA, top 100 MBA Program for 11 consecutive years

The 2019 Pigott Lecture featured Don Kardong, founder of the Lilac Bloomsday Run.

Highlights

In addition to the Aram Lecture on Business Ethics and the Pigott Entrepreneurship Lecture, the school launched the new Mozilo Chair of Business Administration Lecture in April 2019. This year's theme, "Housing Affordability: Understanding this Important Issue," featured a lineup of community, business and university presenters.

The Washington CPA Foundation awarded scholarships to 15 Gonzaga students. Seventy aspiring CPAs in Washington state received these scholarships, with Gonzaga and the University of Washington tying for the most recipients.

At the 26th Economics Symposium in 2019, Professor of Economics and Dean Emeritus Clarence "Bud" Barnes presented "America Divided: An Economic Perspective." Barnes' wealth management class received the Fred Dickson Memorial Award on behalf of the 2017-2018 class. The award goes to the top-performing investment portfolio in the D.A. Davidson & Co. Student Investment Program, in which the 2017-2018 class earned returns of 50.4%. Gonzaga is the first school to be a two-time winner of the award.

Finance students tied for third place with the University of Oregon in the ACG Cup Northwest, a case-study finance competition in which student teams face realistic finance issues and present their solutions before a panel of judges. GU was the only undergraduate team to make it to the finals.

In a new Numerica-Gonzaga School of Business Board Partnership Program, two GU business students (Anthony Kaskurs and Micaela Granberg) served as the first student directors on Numerica Credit Union's board of directors. This new career preparation opportunity allows students to learn about corporate culture from a community-oriented company. Numerica Credit Union President and CEO Carla Cicero said in a CUToday article that the company also enjoys learning from students, who contribute new ideas and perspectives as a younger demographic. Dean Anderson hopes the Numerica-Gonzaga School of Business Board Partnership Program will open doors to similar opportunities with other organizations.

School of Education

Dean: Yolanda Gallardo Carter, Ph.D., succeeding Dean Vincent Alfonso

Facts & Stats

- 201 undergraduates; 332 graduate students
- 100% employment success rate for undergraduates and 99% for graduates
- 32 faculty (15 tenured; 15 tenure-track; 2 term-contract)
- 26 faculty-published articles or chapters
- 31 faculty-given national and international presentations
- 20 graduate student projects

Highlights

Yolanda Gallardo Carter, Ph.D., became the dean of the School of Education on July 1. Carter recently served as associate professor and the Robert Charles Billings Endowed Chair in Education at Berea College in Kentucky. She brings to the University a background in teacher preparation, educational pedagogies, graduate and undergraduate training, and multilingual education. Carter co-founded a bilingual school known as Mexicayotl Academy, served as president of the Kentucky Association of Colleges for Teacher Education and the Kentucky representative for the Association of Independent Liberal Arts Colleges for Teacher Education.

A Milestone Year

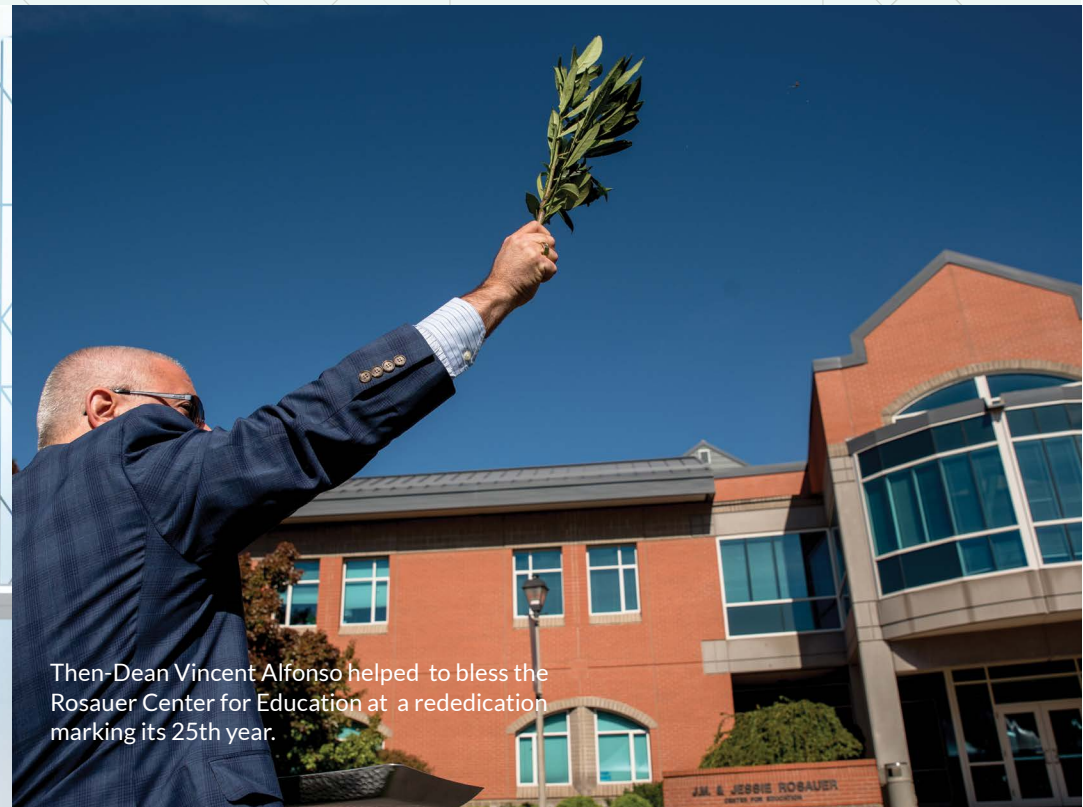

The School of Education honored its past, present and future with events to celebrate the 90th anniversary of the school and the 25th anniversary of the Rosauer Center for Education. A rededication of the center, made possible by the generosity of J.M. and Jessie Rosauer, included a compelling story by their son, Robin ('65), who talked of their dedication to Catholic values and principles. University leaders over the years had a special bond with the family, which understood that education is a game changer. Vincent Alfonso, now former dean, also read from a letter written by Jesse before her death in 2014, in which she expressed that “education is the most important part of a person’s life.”

Commemorating the “90/25” milestones, the School of Education hosted a speaker series. Rob McCann ('95, '06), Catholic Charities CEO, presented “Lifelong Commitment to the Mission,” which focused on the state of homelessness in Spokane. Brooke Matson ('05, '08), executive director of Spark Central, shared insights on “Creativity as Survival.” The nonprofit she oversees aims to bring together new and old neighborhoods to make learning accessible to people of all economic levels.

Members of the Rosauer family honor their parents, J.M. and Jessie Rosauer, who helped make the School of Education building possible.

Then-Dean Vincent Alfonso helped to bless the Rosauer Center for Education at a rededication marking its 25th year.

School of Engineering & Applied Science

Dean: Karlene Hoo, Ph.D.,
succeeding Interim Dean Joe Fedock

Facts & Stats

- 794 undergraduates; 61 graduate students in Transmission & Distribution Power Engineering program, 15% female
- 27% of tenured/tenure-track faculty published books, journal articles or papers
- 90% employment success among recent undergraduates, 100% among master's graduates (First Destination Survey by Career & Professional Development)
- #18 Nation's Best Undergraduate Engineering Programs where a doctorate is not offered (U.S. News & World Report)
- 89% of engineering seniors passed the Fundamentals of Engineering Exam (compared with 73% nationwide)
- 102 students studied abroad, an increase of 13% from the previous year. Most popular programs: Gonzaga in Florence, St. Louis University in Madrid
- Of 14 engineering/computer science clubs, 43% designed, built or prepared entries into nationwide competitions

The Senior Design Expo is an annual showcase of student innovation.

Highlights

Karlene A. Hoo, Ph.D., became dean of the School of Engineering and Applied Science on June 17. She earned chemical engineering degrees from the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Notre Dame. Prior to entering academia, she was a chemical engineer with Exxon-Mobil and DuPont. Hoo also served as a program director at the National Science Foundation in the Engineering Directorate and as a visiting scientist with NASA Johnson Space Center and Sandia. Prior to joining Gonzaga, she served for five years as dean of the Graduate School at Montana State University. She has an accomplished research record of more than 100 peer-reviewed and contributed publications.

Students continue to find inspiration from lab work and research opportunities with SEAS faculty. Of the 30 students participating in research in the spring semester, more than half presented their findings at conferences or competitions. Two mechanical engineering seniors, Teddy Mangrum and Joe Wilson, won first and third prize, respectively, for their presentations at a Society of Manufacturing Engineers event.

The Center for Engineering Design & Entrepreneurship continues to expand the real-world projects available to seniors for their capstone experience. More than 30 industry partners such as Kaiser Aluminum, Avista, Boeing and Schweitzer Engineering Laboratories sponsored at least one of the 59 senior design projects developed in the 2018-19 academic year. A third of the final projects showcased in May were proposed by students. Each team worked with a faculty adviser and one of 52 industry professionals on the Design Advisory Board.

The first Gonzaga engineering-specific study abroad program launched in 2019. Rhonda Young, Ph.D., and Alex Maxwell, Ph.D., of the civil engineering program led a dozen students to the Delft region of the Netherlands to experience alternative approaches to sustainable urban development, such as the area's alternate modes of transportation.

Ivan Jimenez ('19 Engineering Management) received the 2019 Governor's Civic Leadership Award in April.

School of Law

Dean: Jacob Rooksby, J.D., Ph.D.

Kim Pearson, J.D., is associate dean for academic affairs and program innovation.

Facts & Stats

- 350 students (October 2018)
- 19 faculty publications (articles or chapters; non-peer-reviewed publications)
- 17 faculty members presented at regional, national and international venues
- 8 professors served as leaders in professional organizations
- 83.1% pass rate for all GU Bar Exam takers. Among the state's three law schools, Gonzaga achieved the highest overall pass rate in the July 2018 Washington State Bar Exam.
- 5,061 student public service and 8,621 pro bono hours
- 4 students advanced to nationals in the National Trademark Moot Court Competition

Highlights

In September 2018, Gonzaga Law launched the Center for Civil and Human Rights with an all-day conference, "The Pursuit of Justice: Law, Leadership, and the Role of the Civil Rights Activist." The Center also hosted a naturalization ceremony, welcoming 60 new American citizens.

A new Center for Law, Ethics & Commerce, directed by Professor Stephen Sepinuck, J.D., creates resources tailored to transactional law studies, providing legal and theoretical knowledge and skills needed to represent businesses and consumers in all manner of commercial transactions.

New partnerships announced this year include an Immigration Practice and Policy Clinic with Catholic Charities of Eastern Washington and a Legal Education Collaboration Committee with Eastern Washington University to pursue the possibility of EWU students completing a bachelor's and GU law degree in six years.

In other news, the Gonzaga Wine Institute, directed by Professor Jessica Kiser, J.D., is a non-degree experience with online learning and in-person education related to the business and legal aspects of wine.

A highlight of the year was an appearance by the dean, faculty and students on national TV, as Washington State Attorney General Bob Ferguson declared the existence of Gonzaga in a video that appeared on "Jimmy Kimmel Live."

School of Leadership Studies

Dean: Rosemarie Hunter, Ph.D., succeeding Jolanta Weber, Ph.D., interim dean

Facts & Stats

- 676 graduate students (409 ORGL; 176 COML; 77 DPLS), 175 undergraduates in the Comprehensive Leadership Program, and nearly 1,000 participants in training and development programs
- 97% success (first-destination report)
- 4 collaborations/cross-listed courses with other schools
- 2 new concentrations (leading change, strategic communication)
- 24 students at Gonzaga from Colombia's Javeriana University
- 19 students in Zambia to understand community development
- 6 Living Leadership events (Boise, Portland, Bay Area & more); 2 alumni retreats; 2 Leadership Fishbowls & 5 Story Slams for students; 5 Leadership Over Lunch events

Highlights

In its first year as a school, Leadership Studies launched new concentrations, hosted expanded programming for "Women Lead" conferences in Seattle and Spokane, and led a successful Speaker Series featuring authors Jim Kouzes and Barry Posner ("The Leadership Challenge"). Partnerships with Javeriana University, the UW School of Medicine and other schools across campus continue to be a priority. The School also launched a scholarship fund to honor longtime faculty member Joe Albert, Ph.D., and raised support at an event featuring former graduate student and basketball great Ronny Turiaf.

Gonzaga understands that fostering lives of leadership and service for the common good means teaching students to advance diversity and empowerment in the world around them. In July 2018, the School of Leadership Studies began evaluating applications for its Certificate in Women's Leadership, which combines online and on-campus coursework – research and practical skills – dedicated to supporting equity and helping women thrive in the workplace.

Rosemarie Hunter, Ph.D., became dean on June 17. Hunter had served at the University of Utah since 1995 in various administrative and teaching roles – as an associate professor of social work and a special assistant to the president for Campus Community Partnerships, for example. With a background in social work, leadership and university-community partnerships, Hunter brings a passion for building thriving communities through social, economic and environmental justice, a vision that fluidly connects with Gonzaga's own mission.

Delores Alexander ('10) was a keynote speaker at the Women Lead Spokane event.

School of Nursing & Human Physiology

Dean: Vincent Salyers, Ed.D., succeeding Interim Dean Lin Murphy

Facts & Stats

- 575 undergraduates; 627 graduate students
- 94% success for undergrads; 96% for graduates (first-destination report)
- Ranked 3rd for master of nurse practitioner degrees (2018, SR Education Group)
- 10 faculty publications
- 11 faculty presented at national/international conferences
- 29 students inducted into Sigma Theta Tau international honor society
- 7 BSN students accepted to Providence Sacred Heart's nurse tech program; 1 at Virginia Mason
- 37 Human Physiology students with 5 faculty advisers conducted 9 research projects resulting in abstract acceptances at the American College for Sports Medicine, Northwest Chapter.

First-time exam success:

- 93% family nurse practice ANCC
- 88% nurse practitioner (PMHNP) ANCC
- 87.7% undergraduate NCLEX licensure exam

Highlights

The Department of Nursing has focused on strengthening relationships with graduate mentors by launching the Preceptor Gratitude Campaign to honor the impact they have in creating transformative and exceptional learning experiences for nurse practitioner students. The department also updated and created several processes to streamline engagement with preceptors. Online student evaluations and an informational preceptor portal foster meaningful and sustained relationships with all these participants in their vital role.

The UW-GU Regional Health Partnership shares a commitment to the common good – to the health of our communities and the people in Eastern Washington and beyond. School of Nursing & Human Physiology leaders are excited about the potential for shared initiatives, as well as shared interprofessional health education and research with colleagues from across campus and with the UW School of Medicine. Recently, the Department of Human Physiology and the UWSOM jointly appointed a faculty member to teach for both universities. This is the first position hired through a collaborative recruitment effort between the two institutions as part of the Regional Health Partnership.

Other ongoing successful collaboration includes the Doctor of Nurse Anesthesia Program with Providence Health Care, which produces graduates who are highly sought after across the country.

Registered Nurse Vincent L. Salyers, Ed.D., became dean on July 1. Among other senior administrative and teaching positions, Salyers was interim associate vice president for research at Mount Royal University and founding dean and professor of nursing at MacEwan University in Alberta. Jesuit-educated at the University of San Francisco, Salyers has a vision for innovative programs, simulation and technology. He also hopes the school will inspire graduates to impact their communities in positive ways through their research and clinical service.

Notable Mentions

Community Connections

- Science in Action! students provide hands-on science lessons at local elementary schools, igniting children's curiosity about the sciences and potential STEM careers.
- Greater Gonzaga Guild highlights faculty research and scholarship through a series of free lectures that reflect the University's commitment to lifelong learning.
- Members of the University District contribute to the overall economic prosperity of the region. A new Gateway Bridge connecting campuses demonstrates a milestone in the collaborative work of our local universities.
- School of Business Administration students offer Volunteer Income Tax Service, Justice for Fraud Victims (forensic accounting) and other community-facing programs.
- The Center for Community Engagement organizes dozens of programs that place students into community agencies and schools to mentor and learn from others while also helping to address important neighborhood and community issues such as hunger, homelessness and education.
- Every Saturday through the Gonzaga ESL Community Outreach program (GECO), graduate students teach English as a Second Language classes free of charge to immigrants and refugees. (Shown below)

Sustainability

At Gonzaga, students aren't just learning about the issues and challenges of a modern world. They're engaging with the tools and resources around them to become stewards of the Earth.

Here are some ways campus has shown caring for our common home.

- 2019 Clean Air Award from the Spokane Regional Clean Air Agency for efforts in energy efficiency and reduced emissions.
- Named in the 2018 "Princeton Review Guide to 399 Green Colleges" (GU received a "green rating" of 93 on a scale of 80-99).
- Sharp Avenue reopened with an environmentally conscious new stormwater system designed in part by Gonzaga civil engineering students.
- Bee City USA recertified GU as a Bee Campus USA designee.
- Volkar Center for Athletic Achievement received LEED Gold certification from the Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design, the world's largest green building rating system.
- In December 2018, the Board of Trustees adopted a new approach to socially and environmentally responsible investing. The venture emerged from a Gonzaga Student Body Association resolution urging divestment from fossil fuels. The board launched a task force to address climate change solutions and promote sustainable change through socially responsible investing criteria.

Inspiring Change

How are GU students becoming men and women with and for others? They're engaging in critical discourse about how to create a better world.

- In July 2018, 22 undergraduate female students convened to learn effective leadership strategies and receive mentorship from women in politics, business, education, policy and activism, as part of a six-day institute designed to inspire political leadership, diverse representation in government, and self-empowerment among young women.
- 2018 marked the 20th anniversary of Gonzaga's Institute for Hate Studies, a celebration that noted its impact on the International Network for Hate Studies, as well as similar programs at other schools. "Communities for Justice" events included Prayers at the Peace Pole and the Fifth International Conference on Hate Studies – "Building Peace through Kindness, Dialogue, and Forgiveness."

Student Development

- Through the Center for Community Engagement, students selected as Wolff Fellows co-design and execute projects through paid positions at nonprofit organizations.
- When new students arrive, one of their initial courses is the first-year seminar. Three professors – Scott Starbuck, Ph.D., Molly Kretchmar-Hendricks, Ph.D., and Maria Howard, Ph.D. – introduced peer educators to these seminars, with the goal of fostering a deeper, co-learning experience.
- The Parent & Family Relations office celebrated 10 years and the Lincoln LGBTQ+ Center had its 15th anniversary.

Mission & Ministry

In 2018-2019, the Office of Mission and Ministry hired three professional staff members, implemented weekly meetings within Gonzaga's Catholic community, coordinated Adoration events, and introduced the Lumina Vitae Retreat.

The Bulldog Athlete Ministry, a weekly, nondenominational Christian ministry, invites athletes to share their faith and walks alongside them in centering God in their lives. During this year, Mission and Ministry expanded on its Faith and Justice focus with programs such as the Westborough Baptist Protest Interfaith Vigil, which saw more than 200 attendees, the New Zealand Mosque Shooting Vigil, and various other opportunities for liturgies, vigils, service, interfaith ministry and cross-university collaboration.

- Inaugural Lumina Vitae Retreat - 37 participants
- Faith and Justice Programming - 300+ participants
- Bulldog Athlete Ministry - 63 students from 8 sports
- 27 other student retreats, 227 liturgies and Pilgrimage

Student Development and its many partners host the Magis Awards to recognize exceptional Zags each year. Morgan Smith ('19) was one such honoree in 2019.

Mike Rowe and a Mountain of Backpacks

After having been a high-school dropout, Rick Clark ('19) was accepted to Gonzaga and received scholarships to help pay for his education. While at GU, he launched a nonprofit outreach program, Giving Back Packs, to offer hope to those living on the streets of Spokane. His story was heard across the country when a crew from the Facebook Watch show, "Returning the Favor," including star host Mike Rowe, came to campus where Rowe revealed several surprises: a mountain of supplies to support his work, and news that the remainder of his college loans were paid in full.

Clark was a recipient of a Mary Stuart Rogers Scholarship, and always grateful for the chance to receive a Gonzaga education. Today, he and his team at Giving Back Packs are hearing from communities across the nation, interested in starting similar efforts.

Does Gonzaga Exist?

While March Madness always delivers a healthy dose of exposure to Gonzaga for its basketball program's success, 2019 launched the university further into the national spotlight. That was due to a playful monologue by late-night TV host Jimmy Kimmel who asked whether Gonzaga really existed. ZagNation responded in ways that kept the banter going for several weeks, resulting in record-breaking visits to the gonzaga.edu website and millions of dollars' worth of media coverage.

NCAA Student Athlete Success

- Gonzaga's student-athletes achieved a Graduation Success Rate of 99%, according to the NCAA, tying for #2 in the nation. That's well above the NCAA average of 85% and the West Coast Conference average of 90%. Ten sports teams posted 100% GSR scores – some for several consecutive years.
- Gonzaga's athletic program scored 998 out of the 1,000-point Academic Progress Rate scale for academic eligibility and retention among student-athletes.

Men's basketball enjoyed five weeks as the No. 1-ranked team in the nation, and received a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament. The Zags advanced to the Sweet 16 for the fifth straight year, and the Elite Eight for the third time in the last five years, both accomplishments unequaled by any other team in the country during that span.

For the first time, Gonzaga had two players selected in the first round of the NBA Draft; Rui Hachimura ninth by the Washington Wizards; and Brandon Clarke, 21st by the Oklahoma City Thunder, then traded to the Memphis Grizzlies.

Women's basketball continued to average more than 5,500 fans per home game, ranking the Zags No. 1 nationally for attendance capacity at 93.74%. GU received its highest ranking in the AP poll, No. 13, and its No. 5 seed in the NCAA Tournament was also the best ever. The Zags' No. 12 national ranking in the USA Today/WBCA Coaches Poll was the highest in program history.

2019 Mary Stuart Rogers Scholars

Donations impact all students.

Bob Finn and Andrew Brajich thank attendees of the annual alumni scholarship benefit

The year in generosity

Thanks to your support this year, Gonzaga reached some amazing milestones, including top rankings for undergraduate teaching and for alumni securing jobs after graduation. You have had an incredible impact for which this entire community is grateful.

From June 1, 2018 to May 31, 2019, GU received more than $23.6 million in donations, including:

- $9.5 million to GU Athletics
- $6.9 million for scholarships
- $793,000 to Gonzaga Law School
- $3.8 million to our schools and college
- $3.4 million to other areas, like facilities

Scholarships Matter

Of the nearly $7 million in scholarships, several gifts celebrated the legacies of well-loved professors Dan Brajich and Joe Albert, while others supported the dreams of talented and deserving students like Alexandra Gonchar ('22), a psychology student who told Gonzaga scholarship donors, "You've inspired me to be the best I can be and work toward making our world more just and equitable."

During Zags Give Day on March 19, more than 1,148 donors from 37 states and 65 graduating classes were inspired by the generous gift-doubling challenges provided by some very special members of the Gonzaga family. The annual 24-hour donation challenge raised enough to provide more than 100 scholarship awards.

Additionally, friends and families helped establish 11 new endowed scholarships, sharing a commitment to a future influenced by Jesuit-educated people and care for GU students.

Loyalty

- 10,168 Gonzaga alumni made gifts.
- 21% of students during the 2018-19 academic year had one or more parents make donations.
- 970 donors gave at the Leadership Circle level of $1,500 and greater.
- More than half of the people who gave the previous year donated again this year.

Looking Ahead

Scholarships remain a top fundraising priority. Student outreach over the phone, email and text message takes place in October and November 2019, and again in February and March 2020 — they look forward to connecting with you soon!

Year after year, you make it possible for Gonzaga students and alumni to have a positive, enduring impact on the world.

Fundraising is also underway for the Integrated Science and Engineering facility. Groundbreaking took place in September, with expected completion by Fall 2021.
