

graduation celebrations during covid-19

Lowest Risk

home alone or
with housemates

Moderate Risk

outdoor
activities

Higher Risk

outdoor
gatherings

Highest Risk

indoor
gatherings

looks like....

Virtual celebrations (let family members
and friends say
congrats via zoom)

Cook a special meal at home with your housemates

Create and distribute a slide show of college
memories

Send notes of gratitude to those who helped
you on your journey

Give your low-risk
sibling a hug

You've all tested
negative, so you pose
for pictures in the backyard with
immediate family
members only

Car parade!

Outdoor roommates
vs. parents bocci ball
tournament

Cheer on your classmates during commencement
ceremonies

Give air fives to all
your favorite
professors

Plan a multi-household picnic at the park

Attend a large group
outdoor reception

Host an indoor buffet for your household and their visiting family
members

Grandma's unvaccinated
but include her anyway
and don't bother wearing masks

Open invitation to an after-hours last call celebration at the bar

The party spills over into the neighborhood

sounds like....

- Wash your hands
- Allow only people you live with into your home
- Isolate if anyone feels sick

- Wash your hands and avoid touching your face
- Stay at least 6 feet from people you don't live with
- Wear a mask
- Ask visitors to get tested before/after travel
- Keep track of attendees

- Wash your hands and avoid touching your face
- Stay at least 6 feet from people you don't live with
- Wear a mask
- Don't share food or drinks
- Consider the risk level and vaccination status of individual attendees

- Wash your hands and avoid touching your face
- Stay at least 6 feet from people you don't live with
- Wear a mask
- Don't share food or drinks and clean surfaces frequently
- Open windows for better ventilation risk reduction strategies