Leadership Training and Development

Upcoming Webinars (Fall 2017)

Adaptive Leadership
Changed to Monday, November 13th, 12:00 PM – 1:00 PM
Instructor: Kevin Parker, M.B.A.
Cost: $30
Description: Many of the challenges that organizations and people face can be understood through the lens of Adaptive Leadership, a theory formulated by Harvard University instructors Ron Heifetz and Marty Linsky. This webinar will cover the foundation of the theory by exploring the challenges we face, how we make sense of their complexity, and what tools are needed to address those challenges.

Leadership & Storytelling, Part 1
Tuesday, October 10th, 12:00 PM – 1:00 PM
Instructor: Joe Albert, Ph.D.
Cost: $30
Description: Stories play a role in organizational performance and leadership success. In this introduction to storytelling, participants will learn how personal experiences and the stories we tell ourselves about those experiences shape our leadership identity. You’ll learn the foundations of storytelling and how to begin understanding your own leadership story. This webinar will be Part 1 of a series on Leadership & Storytelling.

Emotional Intelligence, Part 1
Wednesday, November 8th, 12:00 PM – 1:00 PM
Instructor: Joe Albert, Ph.D.
Cost $30
Description: Emotional Intelligence (also known as EQ or EIQ) is considered by leadership experts to be a critical determinant of leadership success. While IQ relates to one’s capacity to perform technical functions, emotional intelligence is what allows leaders to navigate relationships, influence others, build trust, and manage themselves in stress. In this session, you’ll learn the foundations of emotional intelligence and find out what you can do to develop your own EQ. This webinar will be Part 1 of a series on Emotional Intelligence.
