AN ENLIGHTENED DEDICATION
About the Cover: Photo I

One day last spring, Gonzaga photographer Jennifer Raudebaugh had the opportunity to explore Gonzaga’s School of Law. On the building’s third floor, she found the Chapel of St. Ignatius of Loyola, which was made possible through the generosity of benefactors Paul ('59, J.D.) and Lita ('70, J.D.) Luvera. The chapel was aglow with light from its stained glass windows. When Raudebaugh added a layer of complexity – using the chapel’s beveled glass door as an extra lens – she found what she was seeking. The resulting series of photos takes readers on a journey through this publication. Discovering light is a fitting metaphor for the life of St. Ignatius of Loyola – and for the Mission of Gonzaga University.

The Report of the President and Honor Roll 2008-09 is produced by Gonzaga’s Marketing and Communications team, including Marny Lombard, editor; Pat Skattum, designer; Jennifer Raudebaugh, photographer; Dale Goodwin, director of public relations; Dave Sonntag, assistant vice president for marketing and communications; Laura Gatewood, director of stewardship; Pat Reese, associate director of development; and Margot Stanfield, vice president for University Relations. Additional images by Goodwin, Ian Roeber, Aaron Schneider, Katie Shannon, Robert Toshack and Shane Young.
Please accept my farewell in thanks for the many expressions of love and gratitude you extended to me this past year. No one could have felt more appreciated than I have in these final days at Gonzaga. So many of you met with me, sent letters, expressed sincere gratitude at basketball games and other Gonzaga events, and invited me into your homes. I feel as if I have been adopted by a thousand families just as I am leaving the presidency. The students have offered so many kind expressions of thanks and affection. I am grateful to the many faculty and members of the Cabinet who extended their kindness and thanks over the last several months. The Staff Assembly kindly presented me with a photograph and plaque which I will keep with me for as long as I live. Finally, our Board of Trustees and Regents and my friends went “over the top” in their expression of genuine friendship and esteem by establishing a $1.7 million endowment at Gonzaga University in my name. I was so stunned, I nearly fell off my chair.

“I was so stunned, I nearly fell off my chair.”
This love and generosity perfectly typifies Gonzaga’s spirit. When I first arrived as a student, I discovered this spirit: One of the Knights picked me up from the airport, drove me to Madonna, and helped me move in. I found almost immediate acceptance and friendship from seven individuals, all still my friends today. This spirit imbued my whole experience at Gonzaga, so that I was a completely changed person when I graduated 35 years ago. No one could have been more surprised than me to discover a vocation to the Society of Jesus. When I became president, this joyful spirit still lived. I had about 300 offers of help, from Trustees and Regents, students and alumni, faculty and staff, and benefactors and friends. The best part was seeing the glint of joy in people’s eyes as they offered their time and assistance to make Gonzaga a better place. I reflected then about the beauty of this experience, and how I had not experienced it in such a pure form since I graduated. Gonzaga’s spirit is addictive, and I could not help but respond with the joyful love and enthusiasm with which I had become acquainted as a student.

This community of joyful loving spirit made the last 11 years not only a success, but also the happiest time of my life. It was you – your collective loving spirit – which formed the foundation from which I and so many others have drawn strength, faith, hope and love. It was a true pleasure to reflect it back to you with joy. I hope to remain in contact with many of you, but if our paths do not cross in this life, remember the words of the great Fr. Tony Lehmann – “to be continued!”

Father Robert J. Spitzer, S.J.

“...to make Gonzaga a better place.”
As we begin a new academic year, it is deeply rewarding to reflect back upon the many wonderful and creative achievements of our students, faculty and staff – and, with tremendous gratitude, the unwavering support and commitment of our alumni and friends. Under the leadership of Father Spitzer, our 25th president, Gonzaga has been challenged to set its own bar of achievement ever higher, and his efforts have significantly increased our capabilities as well as our capacity to educate students in an academically rigorous, yet personally supported, environment.

None of the many achievements that we, as a University, enjoy would be possible without the support and participation of every member of the extended Gonzaga family. Our students, with the support of parents, guardians and loved ones, give us our purpose; as the pages of this Report reveal, our students are as bright and talented as ever. Our faculty constantly seek new and innovative ways to teach, reach and involve their students in learning environments rich with opportunity and challenge – while contributing, themselves, to the frontiers of knowledge in the disciplines of which they are a part. The Jesuit Community plays an active role in all aspects of the campus life: as teachers, as chaplains, as ministers, as mentors. Our dedicated staff and administrators – from technologists to human resource managers to public relations officers – meet their labors with love, and with generosity strive to make the student experience one without parallel.

I believe three goals will help us build on these strengths: First, we seek in all ways, across all of our endeavors, to advance Gonzaga’s institutional mission and its distinctive Jesuit, Catholic identity. Second, we must continue to make educational, and therefore institutional, excellence our aim. Third, we must make a comprehensive – that is, an institution-wide – commitment to financial health and sustainability.

There can be no question that we, as an institution and organization, are faced with many of the same challenges that have beset so many organizations in these challenging economic times. So it is with the deepest appreciation to so many of you, who will read this Report, that we express our thanks. Despite the hardship brought by these times, we have once again felt your support and your confidence in this Jesuit work through the generous sharing of your gifts.

As interim president, I look forward with excitement to the work that lies before us in the year to come. I do so confident that the foundation upon which we build is a foundation of faith, hope, and love – and a belief that the work we are about is nothing less than an intentional investment in the future of our world. Thank you.

Thayne McCulloh, Ph.D.

“...the foundation upon which we build is a foundation of faith, hope, and love...”
“I knew that Spokane would be small. I thought there wouldn’t be anything to do. But the smallness is a plus. I will miss the community the most, the tight-knit ethos of this place,” said Patrick.

As much as Patrick will miss Gonzaga, his professors will miss him. Here’s how they outline his strengths: a Renaissance man with a rich faith life, serious interest in theology and a super-strong intellect; skilled in student government politics and a whiz at constitutional and legal thinking.

“The depth of Patrick’s thinking made me think; his questions engaged me. Working with Patrick was almost like working with a peer,” said Professor Michael Leiserson, political science.

Patrick entered Harvard Law School this fall; his view of the law is already mature. “Law is how people interact with each other, how they decide what is right,” he said. “We live in a pluralistic society with different philosophies, different religions, but law is what ties us together. It’s not just laws we’re dealing with – it’s people.”
MISSION STATEMENT

Gonzaga University belongs to a long and distinguished tradition of humanistic, Catholic, and Jesuit education. We, the trustees and regents, faculty, administration and staff of Gonzaga, are committed to preserving and developing that tradition and communicating it to our students and alumni.

As humanistic, we recognize the essential role of human creativity, intelligence, and initiative in the construction of society and culture. As Catholic, we affirm the heritage which has developed through two thousand years of Christian living, theological reflection, and authentic interpretation.

As Jesuit, we are inspired by the vision of Christ at work in the world, transforming it by His love, and calling men and women to work with Him in loving service of the human community.

All these elements of our tradition come together within the sphere of free intellectual inquiry characteristic of a university. At Gonzaga, this inquiry is primarily focused on Western culture, within which our tradition has developed.

We also believe that a knowledge of traditions and cultures different from our own draws us closer to the human family of which we are a part and makes us more aware of both the possibilities and limitations of our own heritage. Therefore, in addition to our primary emphasis on Western culture, we seek to provide for our students some opportunity to become familiar with a variety of human cultures.

In the light of our own tradition and the variety of human societies, we seek to understand the world we live in. It is a world of great technological progress, scientific complexity and competing ideologies. It offers great possibilities for cooperation and interdependence, but at the same time presents us with the fact of widespread poverty, hunger, injustice, and the prospect of degeneration and destruction. We seek to provide for our students some understanding of contemporary civilization; and we invite them to reflect with us on the problems and possibilities of a scientific age, the ideological differences that separate the peoples of the world, and the rights and responsibilities that come from commitment to a free society. In this way we hope to prepare our students for an enlightened dedication to the Christian ideals of justice and peace.
Our students cannot assimilate the tradition of which Gonzaga is a part nor the variety of human culture, nor can they understand the problems of the world, without the development and discipline of their imagination, intelligence, and moral judgment. Consequently, we are committed at Gonzaga to developing these faculties. And since what is assimilated needs to be communicated if it is to make a difference, we also seek to develop in our students the skills of effective writing and speaking.

We believe that our students, while they are developing general knowledge and skills during their years at Gonzaga, should also attain more specialized competence in at least one discipline or profession.

We hope that the integration of liberal humanistic learning and skills with a specialized competence will enable our graduates to enter creatively, intelligently, and with deep moral conviction, into a variety of endeavors, and provide leadership in the arts, the professions, business, and public service.

Through its academic and student life programs, the Gonzaga community encourages its students to develop certain personal qualities: self-knowledge, self-acceptance, a restless curiosity, a desire for truth, a mature concern for others, and a thirst for justice.

Many of our students will find the basis for these qualities in a dynamic Christian faith. Gonzaga tries to provide opportunities for these students to express their faith in a deepening life of prayer, participation in liturgical worship and fidelity to the teachings of the Gospel. Other students will proceed from a non-Christian religious background or from secular philosophic and moral principles.

We hope that all our graduates will live creative, productive, and moral lives, seeking to fulfill their own aspirations and at the same time, actively supporting the aspirations of others by a generous sharing of their gifts.
Nicole is immersed in her first year of doctoral studies at the University of Iowa. Her topic: special education. She is well equipped, thanks to a strong background of research experience – something for which Gonzaga’s special education program is renowned. Nicole also is an avid runner, a competitive rower and a firefighter.

But she has her own disabilities; a 2004 head-on collision left her unable to talk to others or handle daily basic tasks. In recovery, she proved herself a fighter – someone who cared about others even while in her own greatest need, said Professor Randy Williams, chair of the special education program in Gonzaga’s School of Education.

She credits Professor Mark Derby ("He was intimidating at first.") and Associate Professor Anjali Barretto ("She listens to me when I say that I have disability beyond what you can see."). Williams and the others in the special education program as being remarkable teachers – and good friends.
AUGUST
Gonzaga opened Phase II of the urban-styled Kennedy Apartments, housing upper division undergraduate and graduate students on Gonzaga’s campus. Combined with Kennedy Phase I, more than 400 students are accommodated in apartment-style living.

SEPTEMBER
Began implementing the $1.2 million Howard Hughes Medical Institute grant, enabling undergraduate students to expand their research opportunities in the sciences.

OCTOBER
Dedicated its new three-story, $8.5 million PACCAR Center for Applied Science which houses the new power transmission and distribution program. It became the University’s first “green” building.

NOVEMBER
Former judge Kenneth W. Starr, who submitted the Starr Report to Congress that ultimately led to President Clinton’s 1998 impeachment by the House of Representatives, delivered the Gonzaga University School of Law’s William O. Douglas Lecture.
JANUARY
Ranked No. 6 in the nation among small colleges and universities providing graduates who serve in the Peace Corps with 22 alumni currently serving in the federal agency, which was established in 1961 by President John F. Kennedy.

FEBRUARY
Honored by the Corporation for National and Community Service with a place on the President’s Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll for exemplary service to America’s communities. The award is the highest federal recognition a school can achieve for its commitment to service-learning and civic engagement.

MARCH
Advanced the men’s basketball team to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA tournament, and the women’s team advanced into the second round of the women’s NCAA Tournament.

APRIL
The Gonzaga School of Law moved onto the list of the Top 100 law schools in the nation as ranked by U.S. News & World Report magazine in its Best Graduate Schools, 2010 edition.

MAY
Achieved its highest six-year graduation rate in school history 81 percent, graduating a record number of students with 2,019 undergraduate, graduate and law students receiving degrees at the University’s 116th commencement ceremonies.
WHERE IS THE CLASS OF 2009?

City of Portland
Deloitte & Touche
KPMG
Lockheed Martin

MetLife
Raytheon
Razorfish (Microsoft)
Sacred Heart Medical Center
Verizon
Wells Fargo Financial Wunderman

These accomplishments are representative of the scholarly and co-curricular work completed by Gonzaga’s faculty in 2008-09.

TOD MARSHALL, associate professor of English, welcomed Nigerian Jesuit author Uwem Akpan as the initial guest in the annual Gonzaga University Visiting Writers Series.

LINDA RUSCH, professor of law, was elected president of the American College of Commercial Finance Lawyers.

Award-winning documentary “Posada” written and directed by FATHER MARK MCGREGOR, S.J., was shown on campus by Catholicism for the New Millennium.
MONICA BARTLETT, assistant professor of psychology, and BRIAN HENNING, associate professor of philosophy, co-founded Gonzaga’s Advisory Council on Stewardship and Sustainability.

NOEL BORMANN, professor of civil engineering, and two senior design teams received two EPA grants of $10,000 each for green energy projects in Kenya and to help design the first Catholic university in Sudan.

NANCY BECKHAM, assistant professor of nursing, received the Excellence in Nursing Education Award from the Nursing Honor Society Sigma Theta Chi.

JOSH ARMSTRONG, director of the Comprehensive Leadership Program, received $118,000 from Murdock Charitable Trust to fund student interns in CLP’s Zambia Leadership Program.

2008-09 Exemplary Faculty awards recognized professors JOEY HAYDOCK, DAN BUTTERWORTH, TOM MCKENZIE, ROSE MARY VOLBRECHT, ANNA MARIE MEDINA, LIN MURPHY, KEVIN HENRICKSON, NOEL BORMANN and PEGGY SUE LOROZ.
Lucas began life at Gonzaga by discovering the Starbucks on Hamilton – an important find in his worldview. Four years later, he concluded his GU experience in Zambia, teaching English through the Comprehensive Leadership Program.

Along the way, this Olympia, Wash., resident participated in every Gonzaga retreat, discovered The Economist magazine, and deepened his commitment to social justice. “We are all mutually indebted to each other. We cannot continue to live with such hyper-vigilant individualism. At the end of the day we are more fulfilled when we embrace and live for others.”

Lucas’ professors remark on his ability to reflect on ideas. “He has the ability to critically analyze any issue I ever presented him with,” said economics Assistant Professor Kevin Henrickson, “and do it in a way which allowed others to voice a variety of viewpoints.”

The summer of her freshman year, Katie traveled with her church group to Tijuana, Mexico. There, visiting an AIDS clinic, she came face-to-face with an AIDS patient who, while nearing death, could still share his laughter and joy with others.

This was a life-changing encounter. As a sophomore, Katie returned to Gonzaga to found AIDS Awareness Week, which raised $1,000 for AIDS-related programming and helped to educate hundreds of students. For the next three years, she juggled community service with accounting and a minor in music.

“Accounting is a really hard major. Trying to balance it with community service was a real challenge. But I did it. I got to have the best of both worlds.

“I love the people in the accounting program. Professor Eddy Birrer really likes what he’s doing and he looks out for his students,” Katie said.

She is enrolled in Gonzaga’s master’s of accountancy program and continues her community service work.

ANNUAL CONTRIBUTORS

The benefactors listed below represent a distinguished group of individuals who made a gift of $1,500 or more to the 2009 Annual Campaign (June 1, 2008, to May 31, 2009) making them part of Gonzaga’s Leadership Circle. When members of the Leadership Circle join together in support of Gonzaga, their gifts help to achieve larger goals – preparing men and women who will embrace a global responsibility to ensure justice, protect the dignity of every individual, and serve the greater good.

200 PERCENT INCREASE IN FRESHMAN FINANCIAL AID APPEALS OCCURRED IN 2008-09 COMPARED TO LAST YEAR.
Angela Allen, '09, Nursing, has no time to mess around. At 43, with five children from 6 to 21, she will complete her bachelor’s degree in nursing in December and start officer candidate school in March. Then, she’ll serve in the Air Force, which for her is about gratitude and family: “I’m here on scholarship. I owe it to the American people to pay back the debt I feel that I owe.”

Between studying and parenting, she glimpses a future in which she might become a general and one day run a hospital under her own command. “Dream big—and don’t give up because things are hard or the chips didn’t fall your way in life,” Angela says. In other words, magis.
$3,751 is the average amount needed per student after financial aid is awarded.

THANK YOU TO THE ALUMNI, FRIENDS AND FAMILY WHO SUPPORT GONZAGA THROUGH THEIR ESTATE ARRANGEMENTS.
JACK DOLLARD, ’07, BUSINESS, ’09, M.B.A., visited campus as a prospective student and fell in love with Gonzaga’s renowned sense of community.

Then he enrolled here and fell in love all over again – this time with his professors, most especially Connie Lipsker and David Elloy, who teach in the School of Business Administration.

“Every single professor I took classes from loves their job,” Jack said. “Because of that, I learned more from them, and I loved my courses.”

ELDY QUINTANILLA

J.D. ’09, LAW, grew up in Honduras and knows about challenges. “When I came to Gonzaga, I nearly flunked out. The open-door policy of the professors and the small school really helped. I could talk to the professors after school. They and other students helped me a great deal. Finally, I made it through.”

When she is in the courtroom and someone there speaks no English, Eldy offers reassurance. “Don’t feel bad,” she’ll say. “English is my second language, too.”

Elements of Our Tradition

JOSH SEAMAN, ’09, HISTORY, ROTC, found his pivotal experience in ROTC’s annual Ranger Challenge. “Preparing for Ranger Challenge, we strive every day to be number one. We are not just representing ourselves, but each other, our battalion and Gonzaga. I learned to apply this idea to combat, striving to be number one just representing ourselves, but each other, our battalion and Gonzaga.”

Josh takes his thought further: “There is an emphasis today on the individual. Less priority is given to using individual expertise and capabilities for a greater purpose. We can do much better if we work together.”

MORAL CONVICTION

MONICA QUINONES, ’09, SOCIOLOGY, grew into social activism at Gonzaga. In Campus Kitchen, Study Buddies and La Raza Latina, Monica held larger roles in each organization. She took special pride in introducing Latino culture to other students. Monica praised Assistant Professor Bill Hayes and Assistant Professor Vikas Gumbhir, but singled out Professor Jane Rinehart as her rock.

“Professor Rinehart is who I talked to when I wasn’t sure about what to do with my life. She helped me so much. She understood me.”

PROVIDE LEADERSHIP

KEPA ZUGAZAGA, ’09, POLITICAL SCIENCE, became an Ambassador so that he could pass on to prospective students the joy he found in Gonzaga. As a senior, he led the Kennel Club, making the organization more inclusive and transparent. Kepa is working in Teach for America and will go on to law school at University of Colorado-Boulder.

“Surround yourself with a good group of friends who share your values, and that will help you actually get to be a better person,” Kepa said.
"We are humbled and grateful that so many – inspired as we have been by the mission of Ignatius and the tradition of the Society – have chosen both to work with us and to share our sense of mission and our passion to reach out to the men and women of our broken but lovable world. We are enriched by members of our own faith, but also by people from other religious traditions, those women and men of good will from all nations and cultures, with whom we labor in seeking a more just world."

Excerpt from Degree 6,
35th General Congregation of The Society of Jesus
Rome, Italy
January-March 2008
St. Ignatius of Loyola wrote on December 1, 1551, to the provincial of Spain, explaining his thinking about the founding of new colleges:

“From among those who are now merely students, in time some will depart to play diverse roles – one to preach and carry on the care of souls, another to government of the land and the administration of justice, and others to other callings. Finally, since young boys become grown men, their good education in life and doctrine will be beneficial to many others, with the fruit expanding more widely every day.”
