Sixth Biennial Ethnicity, Race, and Indigenous Peoples Conference

September 12-14, 2019
ABOUT GONZAGA UNIVERSITY
At Gonzaga, our liberal-arts education focuses on developing the whole person: mind, body, and spirit. So our students become people of curiosity, courage, and conviction.

PEOPLE OF PURPOSE
That’s part of our Jesuit heritage: helping students discover their God-given calling and go after it with everything they’ve got.

What students learn at Gonzaga will take them beyond the classroom and into the world; beyond the status quo and into a future filled with creativity and optimism.

And all the while, students are surrounded by a community of people cheering them on and pushing them to be their best.

Because when students find their purpose at Gonzaga, they also find that they can use that purpose to shape the world for the better—for all of us.

This conference is organized by ERIP, the LASA section on Ethnicity, Race, and Indigenous Peoples, in collaboration with Gonzaga University and the Latin American and Caribbean Ethnic Studies journal (LACES). ERIP is committed to the promotion of research, teaching, and the exchange of ideas about all topics related to ethnicity, race relations, Indigenous peoples, Afro-descendants and other ethnic or racial groups in Latin America, the Caribbean, and across the Americas. The ERIP 2019 Conference provides an opportunity for academics, graduate students, activists and practitioners in all the relevant disciplines to present panels, papers, and posters on issues related to ERIP’s mission and areas of interest in the study of Latin America, the Caribbean, and the Americas.

ERIP has more than 400 members representing diverse academic disciplines, including anthropology, history, sociology, political science, linguistics, Spanish and Portuguese, geography, literature, and the law. Membership is open to all members of LASA.

September 12, 2019

On behalf of the Gonzaga University community, welcome to Spokane and Gonzaga University! In the days ahead we are pleased to offer you a small sampling of our University and regional hospitality as we host the Sixth Biennial Ethnicity, Race, and Indigenous Peoples Conference in collaboration with the LASA section on Ethnicity, Race, and Indigenous Peoples (ERIP LASA) and the journal, Latin American and Caribbean Ethnic Studies (LACES). Joining Professors Shlossberg and Stephanis and their many Gonzaga collaborators in this endeavor reflects a key aspect of our mission and values as a Catholic, Jesuit, and humanistic institution of higher learning.

We also would like to extend our appreciation to our many sponsors. Without your financial support and thoughtful leadership, our conference would not be possible. Thank you for the work you do to support Jesuit higher education.

To Gonzaga University and our many institutional partners, we ask that you take this opportunity to relax, network, inquire, and engage. Our goal aims to make this experience one that you can apply to your work in the service of our students and our shared educational mission.

Welcome, and thank you for attending!

Sincerely yours,

Thayne McCulloh, D.Phil.

- 500 Years: Life in Resistance
  Directed by Pamela Yates (2017)

500 Years, the most recent film directed by Pamela Yates, examines indigenous resistance and activism in Guatemala. Building upon the work chronicled in her films When the Mountains Tremble (1983) and Granito: How to Nail a Dictator (2011), in this film Yates focuses on the trial of dictator General Ríos Montt and the citizen’s uprising responsible for the end of President Otto Pérez Molina’s administration. The film examines issues of justice, reconciliation, and redemption within the context of cultural genocide. ERIP keynote speaker, Alicia Velásquez Nimatuj, features prominently in the film as she dialogues with the events unfolding in Guatemala and their relationship to contemporary Mayan identity.
